PASTOR'S COMMENT

We Should Know Ourselves As God And Others Do

By DR. FORREST W. NASH
College Church Pastor

Everyday I am faced with these three startling facts of life. First, there is that which others know about me. Likewise, there is that which I know about myself. And in the third place, there is that which God knows.

What others say of me is either true or not true. And if what I am is of such poor moral quality that what others know is not good, then by God's help, I must correct it for the Word says, "A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches."

If what I know about myself is something other than that with which I seek to impress others, then my life becomes a sad contradiction — a bad face with a mask on. That is why Paul said, "Examine yourselves."

If what God knows is a heart of a "good man full of faith and the Holy Spirit," then life becomes a grand and eternal adventure — an infinite companionship with God in Christ. And I can say with Job of old, "He knoweth the way that I take: when He hath tried me I shall come forth as gold."

Homecoming Sell Out; Expect Record Crowd

Olivet's 1966 Homecoming is only a week away.

Tickets for all events with the exception of Friday's 7:30 p.m. Homecoming concert are sold out. There were 100 tickets still available for the concert as of last Wednesday according to Dr. Donald Gibson, vice-president in charge of Olivet's field services. Efforts to contact Rev. Charles Ide, alumni secretary and Homecoming commission chairman, proved futile. Dr. Gibson is also on the Homecoming commission.

All tickets for the smorgasbord, some 800, are gone. The feast will be held Saturday, Nov. 12, at 9:30 p.m. in Ludwig Center dining room. Dr. Harold W. Reed, president of Olivet, the Homecoming Queen and her court, the Olivet and Bethany Nazarene College basketball teams, along with other dignitaries here for Homecoming, will be special guests at the smorgasbord.

The basketball game is also sold out. Some 3,500 students, faculty, staff, alumni and their guests are expected to attend the basketball contest, which will be held at the Abraham Lincoln Elementary school gymnasium. Site of the contest had originally been announced as Kankakee East Junior High School. The site at 1440 E. Court St. in Kankakee is still the same, only the school has changed names.

"THIS HOMECOMING should be the biggest ever for the alumni," said Dr. Gibson.

Dr. Gibson believes a greater number of alumni will attend this Homecoming because of the interest in the intercollegiate sports program and new campus facilities completed this year. The Planetarium, Ludwig Student Center and Reed Hall of Science are new buildings that were not opened at last fall's Homecoming.

The Saturday night basketball game between Bethany and Olivet will be ONC's initial intercollegiate athletic contest.

All float construction is reportedly well underway although again, an effort to contact Karen Enders, Homecoming float chairman, proved unsuccessful. Exactly how many floats are expected for the Saturday morning parade could not be learned. The parade will begin at 10 a.m. at the Kankakee Post Office on E. Court St., move westward on Court St. to Kennedy Drive, where it will turn northward and continue until it disperses at Chalfant Hall.

The Homecoming court will be introduced at a pep rally and bonfire at 8:30 p.m. Thursday night on the football field. Members of the court are Holly Crist, Kathy Eckley, Peg Garner, Mary Sue Jones and Beverly Nash.

Students voted for the Homecoming Queen last Tuesday, but the queen will not be announced until the court is again presented in Friday's 10:30 a.m. convocation Homecoming chapel.

REV. WILLIAM Blue from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., will be the special Homecoming chapel speaker.

The queen and her court will again be presented between the junior varsity-alumni and varsity basketball games Saturday night.

Lauren Larsen, Olivet graduate and son of Mrs. Naomi Larsen, professor in Olivet's department of music, will present the queen and her court Saturday night.

Editor, The Glimmerglass:

Many times while here at Olivet, I have asked the question, "Why can't they treat us like adults?" My question was answered last Saturday night at the school Halloween party.

The party could have been a success but a few of our fellow colleagues felt their entertainment much more adequate than what was on stage. Showing absolutely no respect or consideration for the people on stage, several showed the ultimate in childish actions.

I don't want to be misunderstood, so I will clarify my statement thus far. I think it is great that people can have a good time at a party, that is what it is for. But I do not feel that it is necessary for a group of immature individuals to spoil a party and make the people on stage look like fools.

WE GRIPE and complain about not having anything to do nor any place to go but when something does come up we make a mockery of it. This is exactly why we, as a student body, can not be treated as adults. Many of us can't even act the part. We feel Olivet nothing more than a nursery school taking the place of our parents.

But Olivet is not a nursery school for an immature childish acting group of people. It is a college, a place for intellectual learning and a place where mature individuals can seek truth and happiness.

I feel it high time we, as students, re-evaluate ourselves. Start acting like mature college students instead of the immature "high school Harry" of the past. If we want to be treated like adults, with respect and understanding, we are going to have to act like adults—giving respect and understanding.

Religious Reflections

By RICHARD UNGERBUEHLER

It has been said that inconsistency breeds inconsistency. This has been reflected in recent developments in government agencies concerning separation between church and state.

Four years have passed and over 200 proposed Constitution amendments have been introduced to Congress since the U.S. Supreme Court handed down the first of a series of historic decisions which prohibit "prayers" in our public schools.

The most recent, the Dirksen Amendment failed to be adopted Sept. 21, apparently supporting the argument for permanent separation of church and state.

Shortly thereafter, however, President Johnson while addressing an audience of bishops of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, called for clerical involvement in the controversies of government. Apparently the President feels that the church and state are not separate.

LAST MONTH the Post Office Department was asked to drop its plans for a 1966 Christmas stamp depicting Hans Memling's painting of a madonna and Child on the grounds it would violate the separation of church and state.

The problem is as old as organized religion. It is not our intention to offer solution but to point out that inconsistency is as prevalent in our environment as the air which we breathe.

It is obvious that a minority have removed prayer from our schools and religious art from our postal stamps. The majority of our senators supported Everett Dirksen's amendment; the ban on religious postage stamps was initiated by individuals, not groups; our President wishes "the good men of the Church" to become involved.

With this challenge before us, we as Christian college students training for positions of leadership should add our "voice in the wilderness" now to inform Senator Dikens of our support in such matters as those suggested.

POISE AND IVY

By MARCIA MORGAN

Homecoming 1966 is only a week away. And what a perfect time to bring out all those marvelous "really winter" things that have been hanging in our closets since we bought them this summer.

Among the all-time greats of the winter wardrobe is the knit dress. These simple, sleek, "body dresses," as Glamour magazine calls them, are a total look in themselves. Their wearability and comfort are two more factors which contribute to the popularity of the knit dress.

Suits have long been indispensable to a winter wardrobe. And the fashion-minded college girl of Homecoming '66 should make no exception to this rule. From Coco Chanel's almost classic suit design to the current Chelsea and mod designs, a young lady can be well dressed in a suit which not only looks flattering, but which is also very fashionable.

I MUSTN'T minimize the importance of accessories in a fashion-conscious coed's wardrobe for Homecoming. The leather cut-out gloves, tailored, low-heeled shoes, are two of the most important ones. Real hats, not fishnets, and jewelry are very much a matter of individual taste. (Although too much jewelry is in poor taste on any fashion level, unless of course, one happens to be a member of a transient gypsy troupe.)

The fashion scene for Homecoming '66 can be best expressed in just one word—simplicity. From the elegance that you feature for the concert to a more sporty flair you don for the basketball game, simplicity is the key.

Concert Features Trumpet Soloist

Susan Slaughter, first trumpet with the Indiana University Philharmonic orchestra, will be the featured soloist at Olivet's band concert to be presented at 7:30 p.m. tonight in Chalfant Hall. The starting time for the first concert of the school year has been moved back a half hour for the originally scheduled 8 p.m. time.

Miss Slaughter, who studied at the Jordan Conservatory in Indianapolis and the Brevard Music Camp in North Carolina, is a senior at the University of Indiana. The soloist will be featured in a dramatic essay for solo trumpet and band.

RICHARD NICHOLS (right), member of Olivet's Young Republican Club and GLIMMERGLASS reporter waits his turn to greet former Republican Vice-President Richard M. Nixon. Republican Candidates, Nixon Visit Kankakee

By RICHARD NICHOLS

Former Republican Vice-President Richard Nixon visited Kankakee Wednesday, Oct. 26, for a fund raising luncheon at which he was the principal speaker.

Other distinguished speakers at the luncheon were Congressman Les Arends, minority whip of the House of Representatives; Illinois' Senatorial Republican candidate Charles Percy and the seven local Republican candidates.

Over 1,000 persons, including members of Olivet's Young Republican Club, other Olivet students and faculty members, attended the $15.00-a-plate affair held at the Kankakee County Fairgrounds.

Dr. Harold W. Reed, president at Olivet, delivered the invocation.

PERCY IS SEEKING his second elected public office. The senatorial candidate took issue with Illinois' Democratic Senator Paul Douglas' public campaign statement, "You've never had it so good." Douglas is seeking re-election.

"A rising crime rate, escalating inflation and the Viet Nam war are several reasons why life isn't quite as good in the United States as Senator Douglas would like to lead the public to believe," noted Percy.

Arends also spoke for a short time before introducing Nixon.

"Things are pretty good these days—Congress is home and Lyndon is 10,000 miles away," said Arends. (The Republicans visited here while President Johnson was on his East Asian tour.)

Nixon spoke of the necessity of returning a major portion of the power in Congress to the Republican party in the upcoming election.

THE 89TH CONGRESS has, in many cases, been little more than a rubber stamp for Lyndon Johnson," noted Nixon. "Johnson referred to the 89th Congress as 'my Congress' . . . Never before has a President wielded such reckless power over a Congress. This condition can result in a much-weakened government of the people."

In less than the two hours in which he was in Kankakee, the former Vice-President raised over $15,000.00 for the local Republican party.

Child Care Committee Holds Halloween Party

Last Monday evening was the scene of goblins and spooks in Ludwig Center Dining Room, where the Child Care Committee held a Halloween party under the direction of Mary Ruth Scott and Michele Gregory. This was the committee's first party for the Child Care program recently oriented on Olivet's campus.

The party began at 7 p.m. with each sponsor bringing a child to Ludwig Center. For most of the children, it was the first time on Olivet's campus. Perhaps it was their first time at a party of any kind. Children of all ages and sizes came both in costume and without and were greeted at the door by a pair of "gruesome" witches. They were given a name tag and party favor.

The faces of the children expressed varied reactions to the party. While most reacted excitedly and laughed energetically, a few sat awed and fascinated, and in fact, one little girl became frightened by all the activity.

THE CHILDREN played games such as apple-bobbing and relays and when time for refreshments came some would rather have continued to play games and forfeit the goodies. A humorous skit was presented by Joe Senen Jr. and Jeff Sparks, bringing chuckles and side-splitting laughter to children and sponsors alike, as the fellows engaged in everything from water fights to pie throwing.

Robert Elrod, manager of the Prophet Food Company here, was an avid enthusiast of the party. In fact, he donated the donuts and hot chocolate for the refreshments.

and offered the committee the use of his Halloween decorations. The local WCTU, also very interested in the Child Care program, donated apple cider for the event.

Some of the sponsors brought their "adopted" children to Olivet for dinner and then took them trick-or-treating prior to the party. All in all, the children seemed to have a most enjoyable evening, perhaps one to be remembered by both them and their sponsors.

WRA Names Newly Elected Officers

Announcement of recent elections in the Women's Residence Association was made by the Association's executive council Oct. 30. Shirley Close and Sue Weaver will be representing the freshman class on the executive council.

The newly formed Social Committee members are Donna Miller, Sandra Reed, Margaret Stevenson, Lucy Stewart and Sheryl Myering. They will be in charge of future dorm and all school parties sponsored by the organization.

SAME PROBLEM AS OLIVET

Inexperience Plagues BNC

By JERRY HERTENSTEIN

The same problem plaguing Olivet's first intercollegiate basketball team, inexperience, appears to be the same problem Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Okla., faces.

Bethany basketball coach Dave Baker insists his team is "inexperienced" although this is the third season of intercollegiate basketball for the Redskins. Bethany and Olivet clash Nov. 12 at 7:30 p.m. at Abraham Lincoln Elementary school gymnasium. In past articles site of the game had been referred to as Kankakee East Junior High School gymnasium. The site of the game is the same, only the name of the school different. The fray will be Olivet's initial intercollegiate contest.

Bethany, which plays an 18 game independent schedule this season, will meet Olivet just two days after its season opener Nov. 10 at Park College, a Presbyterian school in Parkville, Mo., near Kansas City, Mo.

Bethany has six lettermen returning from last year's cage team that chalked up a 7-11 season record. And although the current roster lists one player, Duane Keese as 6-7, Baker claims he has no height among his lettermen.

THE RETURNING lettermen are Jim Dimick, 6-0 junior guard, the Redskins' leading scorer last season averaging 20 points a game; Gary Banz, 6-3 senior forward; Terry Patnode, 5-9 junior guard; Bob Hamann, 6-1 senior guard, and Brian Delbridge, 6-3 junior forward. Dimick and Banz are co-captains.

"Because of our lack of experienced height this is probably our weakest team since we've had intercollegiate," observes the Redskins' 29-year-old coach, a former quarterback for the University of Oklahoma and San Francisco 49-

ers. "We have a lot of guys who want to play, but it could be a long year."

Baker isn't ready to list his starting five for the Nov. 12 game. Eleven players will make the trip here.

Like Olivet, Baker says his Redskins will basically be a running ball club offensively, although they will do things on a conservative note. Defensively, Bethany is expected to do a little of everything, working with a zone and man to man.

"WE'RE LOOKING forward to playing Olivet and think it is another fine athletic addition for both schools," said Baker. "If two Christian colleges can't play one another on a basketball floor, then I don't think we should even have an athletic program."

"The student enthusiasm for the intercollegiate program here has been wonderful as I'm sure it is at Olivet," noted Baker when contacted via a long distance telephone call last Wednesday. "And I don't think any student should look at the game other than just what it is—an athletic contest between two Nazarene schools."

Bethany's roster: Gary Banz, 6-3 senior forward; Allen Bryson, 6-4 sophomore forward; Terry Cargill, 6-1 freshman forward; Brian Delbridge, 6-3 junior forward; Jim Dimick, 6-0 junior guard; Bob Hamann, 6-1 senior forward; Duane Keese, 6-7 senior forward; Terry Patnode, 5-9 junior guard; James Stone, 6-3 junior forward; Barry Strickland, 6-2 sophomore forward and Stan Zahorsky, 6-1 junior forward.

Beta Wins Women's 1966 Softball Title

By RUTH HENCK

The final game of the women's softball season was played between Sigma and Kappa, Oct. 28.

Kappa, unvictorious before the contest, was looking for a big closing season win. An insufficient number of players put the Kappa girls at a definite disadvantage. Sigma took advantage of the situation and behind the fine performance of pitcher Barbara Harris, victory was added to the team's record.

Also turning in a fine performance for the season was Beta society. Under the leadership of Brenda Kirts, the Beta women had an undefeated season.

The batting power and fielding of Beta proved to be an unbeatable combination.

The final standings of each society are as follows:

Beta	5	0
Sigma	4	1
Gamma	3	2
Zeta	2	3
Delta	1	4
Kappa	0	5

Beta, Sigma Softball Nines Defeat Gridders

By STEVE SUBLETTE

Last week's post-season softball action scheduled by the athletic department saw three games played on the campus diamond.

Tuesday, Beta, runner-up in the regular softball season, downed the freshman football players, 13-6, behind the arm of Larry Bittenbender. The society pitcher held the pigskinners to five hits in six innings and scored three hits for the winning cause.

Denny Ferris clubbed two extra base hits for Beta and Rich Hardin had a roundtripper to drive in four of the eight runs the orange and blue collected in the second inning. An error and consecutive extra base hits by Steve Mollins, Ferris and Bittenbender gave Beta four more tallies in the third inning.

Tague, who played left half-back on the gridiron, sparked the underclass footballers with two singles in four trips to the plate. Freshman quarterback Wayne Underwood and fullbacks Ross and Augie Fiori accounted for the other hits off Beta pitching.

NO INFORMATION was recorded on the scheduled duel between top-ranked Sigma, regular season softball champ, and the upper-class football team.

Thursday, "O" Club was to meet the college gridders on the campus diamond, but enthusiasm was apparently elsewhere as a limited number of players turned out.

The short handed footballers dropped the decision to the right fielderless "O" Club, 13-8. Jack Provencal hurled the victory and backed up his pitching with two hits. Denny Burgraff, Larry Watt and Pete Albertson also contributed a pair of hits. Fiori smacked a pair of hits to lead the gridders and five others added a hit each.

Speech Club Meets

The 1966-67 Speech Club held its first meeting on Wednesday evening, Oct. 12.

The main subject of this meeting was the organization of this year's club. The meeting was directed by Professor McCombs and the election of officers was the first order of business. Joe Craig was elected president; John Hunnigan, vice-president; Marcia Bishop, secretary, and Mary Jane Schweitzer, treasurer. Publicity chairman and chaplain are Don Reed and Ken Gates.
